SAE invites school students for creative workshops

SAE Creative Media Institute is opening its doors to aspiring creatives. The leaders in creative media education are putting on a series of three day workshops this school holidays for students, 15 to 17 years of age, running from 20 - 22 January 2021 at it's Brisbane, Byron Bay, Sydney, Melbourne and Perth campuses.

The popular 'taster' events invite students to find out what it's like to study at SAE, whilst immersing themselves in the latest state-of-the-art tech, with the opportunity to learn from industry experts across six disciplines - animation, audio, design, film, games, web and mobile.

Creative workshops will give attendees a feel for their chosen campus, course peers, teaching style and course content, all at a government-approved certificate, diploma and degree course education provider. As part of the workshops, students will get the opportunity to complete a piece of work, which they can use as part of their personal portfolio.

"You get a realistic feel for what you'll be doing. Everyone on campus is friendly, and you get to meet a lot of like-minded creative people - everyone is really passionate about what they do at SAE," Animation student, Nicola Farquhar-Smith said.

Deputy General Manager of SAE Australia, Dr Luke McMillan, said the creative workshops offer a valuable opportunity for high school students. "I would urge any parents who have children with an interest in the creative disciplines we offer - book a spot on one of our popular creative workshops. The creative workshops provide students with an immersive, hands-on experience that will give them a real sense of what it is like to be part of the creative industries," Luke said.

SAE is the place for the creators and innovators. Creative workshops run from 20 - 22 January 2021 at the Brisbane, Byron Bay, Sydney, Melbourne and Perth campuses. For the full three days including lunch, prices are from $50. Book online now or call 1800 723 338.
