MASTER OF CREATIVE INDUSTRIES

Whether you've worked within the creative industries for years, hold a creative media qualification and seeking to deepen your knowledge to pursue greater career prospects, or want to refine and explore a specific creative media project, SAE's Master of Creative Industries is the next step to defining your creative niche.

This is the qualification you need to move your career forward and enhance your employment prospects. It presents the perfect platform to refine and test your big ideas and existing projects with peers at the same level, before launching to the industry.

The Master of Creative Industries is ideal if you:

- need to upskill an existing degree qualification to keep up with the digital revolution, contemporary issues and current practice;
- work in the creative industries and want to gain a promotion in your current role;
- are returning to work after a short break and want to reignite your career;
- would benefit from creating or defining your professional identity;
- need to develop your skills in remote practice;
- want to graduate with a sense of personal confidence and conviction.

The Master of Creative Industries offers a progressive learning experience. We'll guide you to select modules that meet both your creative and professional aspirations and provide the appropriate foundation and support to enable the successful completion of your final Capstone Project.

All ideas need a place to grow and people to nurture them, and our reputation as the leading global specialist in creative media education comes from 40 years of pioneering creative minds like yours.
